DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 2-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Siders et al. (2003/0181133).

With respect to Claims 2-4, Siders teaches the processor 102, the first data input 114, the second data input 118 on the front page diagram, the portable touch screen 114 and the data output port (bottom of processor 102) on the front page diagram and paragraph [0093]. It is noted that it is inherent that the touch screen of Siders is hand-held because it is a separate device from the display 116 on the front page diagram and, also, Siders' discussion of a hand-held devices in paragraphs [0019] and [0044]. It is noted that the keyboard, mouse and touch screens discussed in paragraph [0093] are all hand-held devices. Further, Siders teaches the means for transmitting data (connection between 102 and 104) on the front page diagram and the engraving device in paragraphs [0090] and [0104]. Of further note to Applicant, Siders teaches that the data store 118 on the front page diagram may be from an internet connection in paragraph [0146]. With respect to Claim 5, it is noted that the handheld touchscreen of Siders is capable of inputting of at least x, y and z coordinates or accessing engraving job data on the host computer 102 on the front page diagram.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 5-23-05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's sole argument in the response filed 5-23-05 is that the input device of Siders is not "handheld" as the newly submitted claims recite. The Examiner disagrees. Clearly, the keyboard, mouse and touch screen of Siders are both portable and "handheld" as taught by Siders in paragraph [0093].

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
